

In The Gambia, UNODC works closely with partners to strengthen national capacities to prevent and respond to drugs. Raising awareness about drug abuse and recognizing signs of abuse in family and friends is one-way UNODC supports communities in preventing drug addiction.

UNODC's strategic vision for Africa

Common signs and symptoms of drug abuse and addiction

The Drug Demand Reduction Project (DDR)

The DDR project, implemented by UNODC seeks to tackle the drug problem by involving a comprehensive, balanced and coordinated approach, that addresses both supply control and demand reduction, which reinforce each other, together with the appropriate application of the principle of shared responsibility.

Understanding drug abuse and addiction

It is important to recognize that people from all walks of life can experience problems with drug use, regardless of age, sex, profession, or background. People use drugs for a variety of reasons which may include to experiment, peer pressure, to rebel, to escape from financial or family problems or ease stress, anxiety, or depression.

Get help!

